

ERP Readiness for Senior Management Teams

A tailored 1-day workshop designed to ensure your ERP project is set up for success

“We found the ERP Readiness Workshop to be of tremendous value - it was eye-opening and one of the best sessions we have done as a management team” John O'Brien, Managing Director, O'Brien Fine Foods

Each unique workshop is facilitated by a senior Lumenia consultant with a minimum of 20 years of ERP project experience. The workshop content will be informed by Lumenia's experience of guiding over 200 clients on their ERP journeys.

> ERP Readiness for Senior Management Teams

ERP projects are notorious for running over-budget and failing to deliver the expected business benefits. Despite this, many organisations begin ERP projects without a clear understanding at senior management level of the implications in terms of cost, resources, business disruption and potential future business process change. Not surprisingly, many of these projects join the catalogue of failed implementations.

Lumenia's ERP Readiness Workshop for Senior Management Teams is designed to address the knowledge gaps and expectation differences that may exist at senior management level so that the planned ERP project can be set up for success. While the workshop can be run at any point up to the start of implementation, ideally it should take place before starting a selection process for an ERP solution.

Lumenia does not sell software and has no vested interest in promoting any ERP solution - therefore the workshop outputs will be unbiased and focused only on delivering value to your organisation.

WORKSHOP BENEFITS Following the workshop the Senior Management Team will have:

- ▶ A common view on their ERP project objectives, high-level benefits and critical success factors
- ▶ A common set of expectations with regard to business process and organisational change in the context of the project
- ▶ A realistic assessment of the likely cost and internal resource implications of implementing and running a new ERP solution
- ▶ A clear understanding of the ERP implementation process and how the cost and resource requirements arise

WORKSHOP FORMAT

- ▶ Each unique workshop is tailored to address the ERP scope & challenges relevant to your organisation
- ▶ The workshop will take one full day and can be delivered on-site or off-site. Content will be a combination of presentation and team exercises designed to engage and inform attendees.
